TAKE IT FROM THE TOP...

Central's activities revolve around its administrative core. Mr. Vincent Shemanski, principal and Father Leo Lenick, vice-principal, conduct the affairs which make the school a success. The financial drives run throughout the year are approved and supervised primarily by these two men. Mr. Shemanski's initial duty consists of making decisions which will benefit the school and keep it financially within the proposed budget. Father Lenick enforces the school's disciplinary system by punishing its violators. His indispensable instrument, the green demerit, is desired by none but given to many of the accused wrong-doers. Our administrators do a great job co-ordinating all the facets of education that make Central Number One. Together, they contribute to our successful future.

With a sparkling smile, Rev. Leo Lenick, vice principal and disciplinarian, pauses to welcome his visitors.

Showing concern is just one of many characteristics that our principal, Mr. Vincent Shemanski expresses.

"What did I do to deserve this?" questions Mr. Vincent Shemanski as Kathy Ziemba hands him a green slip.

Here sits Brian Coles as he surmises that public detention is on the way.

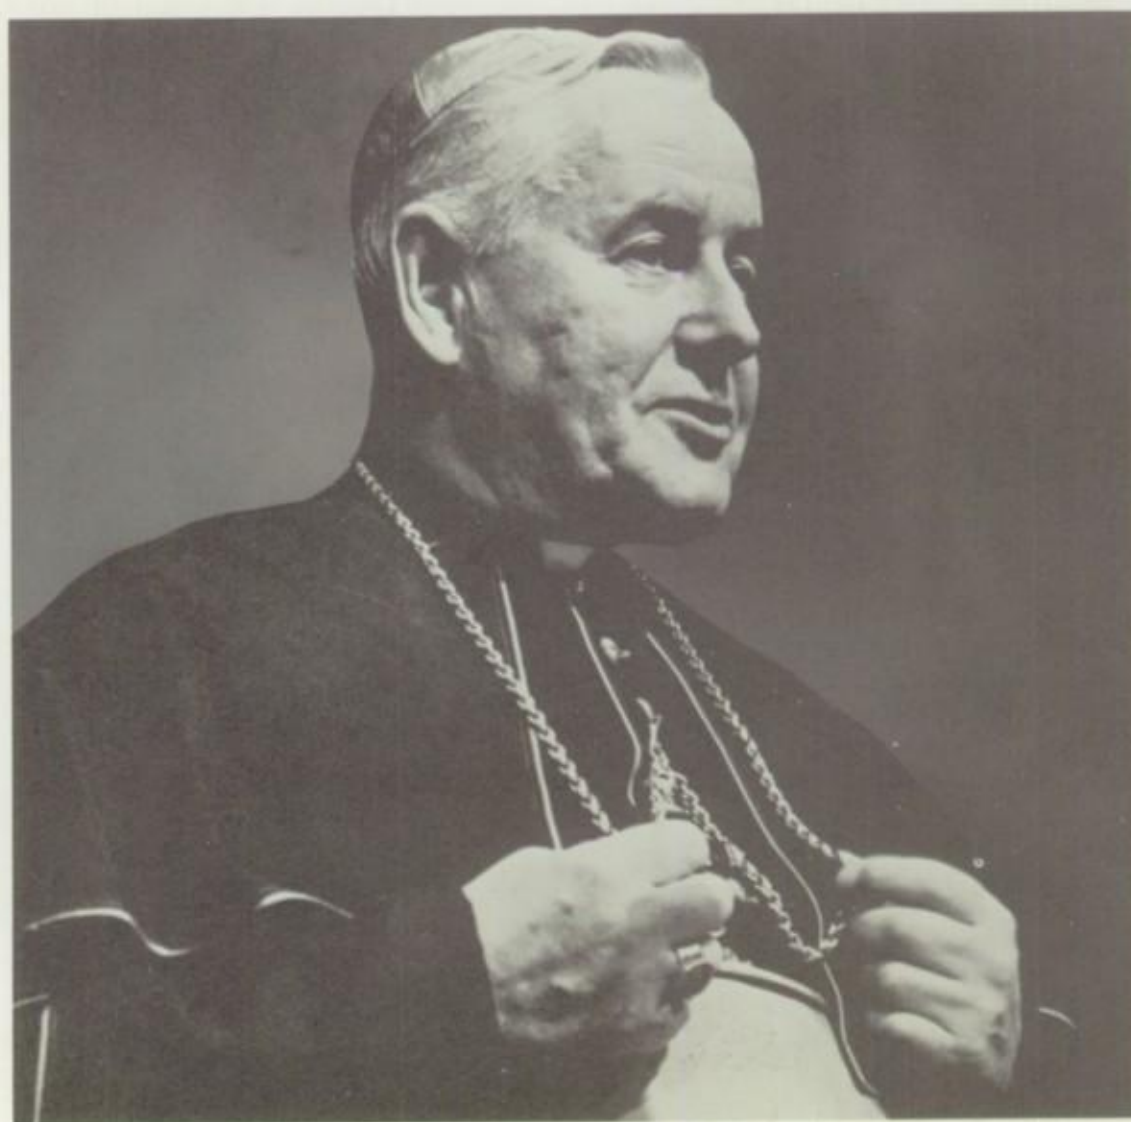

All these smiles denote the happiness and pleasure of being department heads here at Central.

WE GO ABOUT OUR EVERYDAY BUSINESS

A morning prayer over the P.A. system commences each weekday here at Central. With this prayer Central awakens to a new day under His guidance.

Students follow one of the five programs of 15 mods that takes them through classes, studies, physical education and free time, which they may use as they wish. Although the daily routine can be exciting and action-packed, a student's over-ambition in his regard usually results in a demerit. Even though our school is noted for its spirit, discipline, headed by Father Leo Lenick, is equally important.

The dismissal bell beckons all interested students to their extra-curricular activities. Cheerleaders fill the halls for practice while members of special clubs animate the classrooms. After all, the more we participate, the more we obtain from our schooling, the faculty and students feel that their efforts are well worth the time. It's time the non-conformist image disappears.

ACCOUNTING FOR OUR CENTS

Traditionally, business curricula have emphasized immediate preparation for employment following high school graduation. Central not only fills, but surpasses these standard offerings.

To the college bound student, Notehand and Personal Typing explains the principles of fast, accurate note-taking among other survival techniques of higher education. Relevant topics dealing with corporation ownership, insurance and governmental programs were discussed in General Business classes this year. Business Law classes discovered the complexity of the regulations surrounding the financial world. With diligence and determination, students transferred credits and debits of business transactions from journals to ledgers.

Directed in their secretarial classes, students attained the various mechanical skills associated with their field. In fact, Sr. Margarita, at the department's head, arranges for interesting guest speakers and coordinates the Work Experience Programs for her future career people. Beginning with the junior year, any student involved will verify that at Central, we know our business!

Expressions can tell a lot about the task of typing.

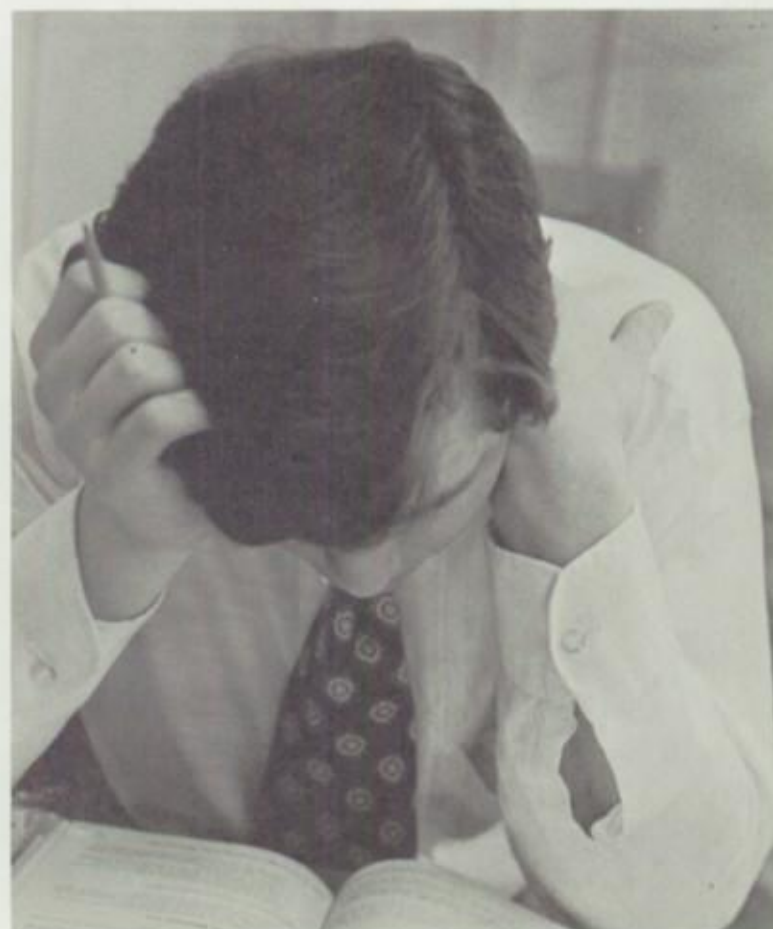

Head of the Co-operative Work Experience Program, Mr. Fehnel outlines basic good business practices.

As she goes from electric to manual, Lori Matuszak finds her speed slipping.

Long explanations help when it's time to do detailed problems.

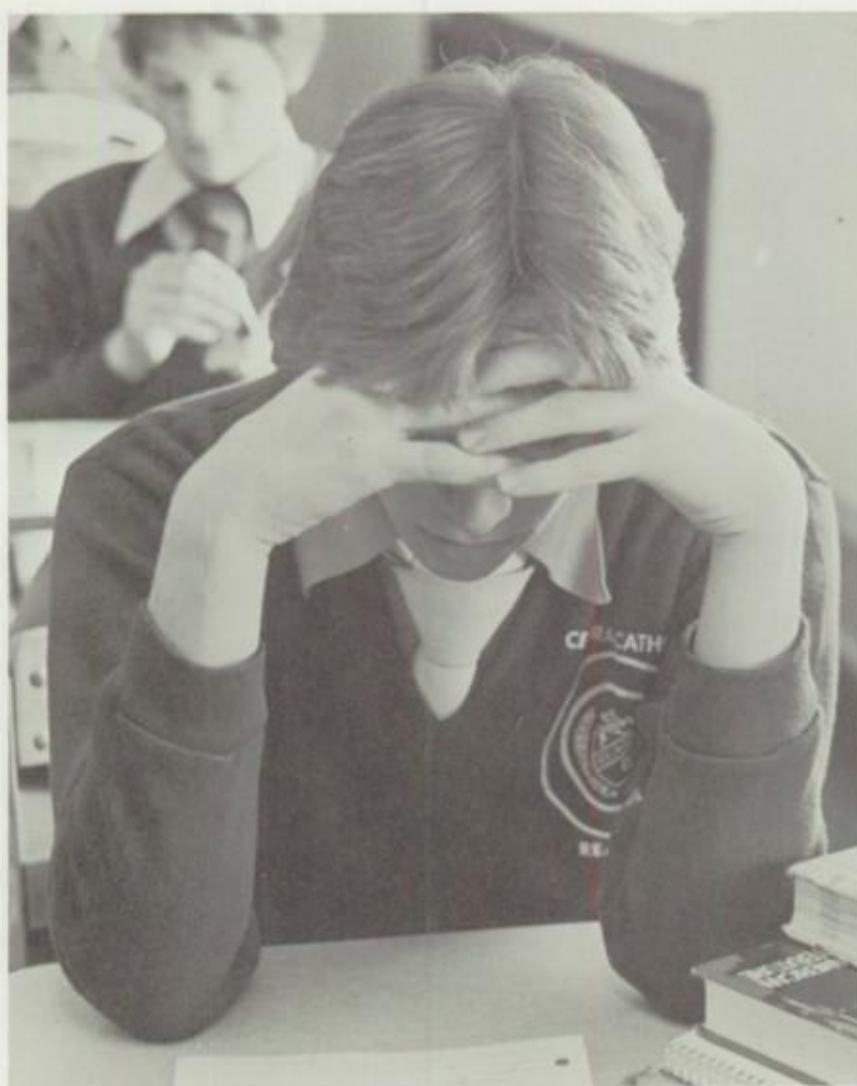

"You just can't cram for a Business Law exam!"

Try doing your accounting homework at this angle! Kathy Grady makes it look easy.

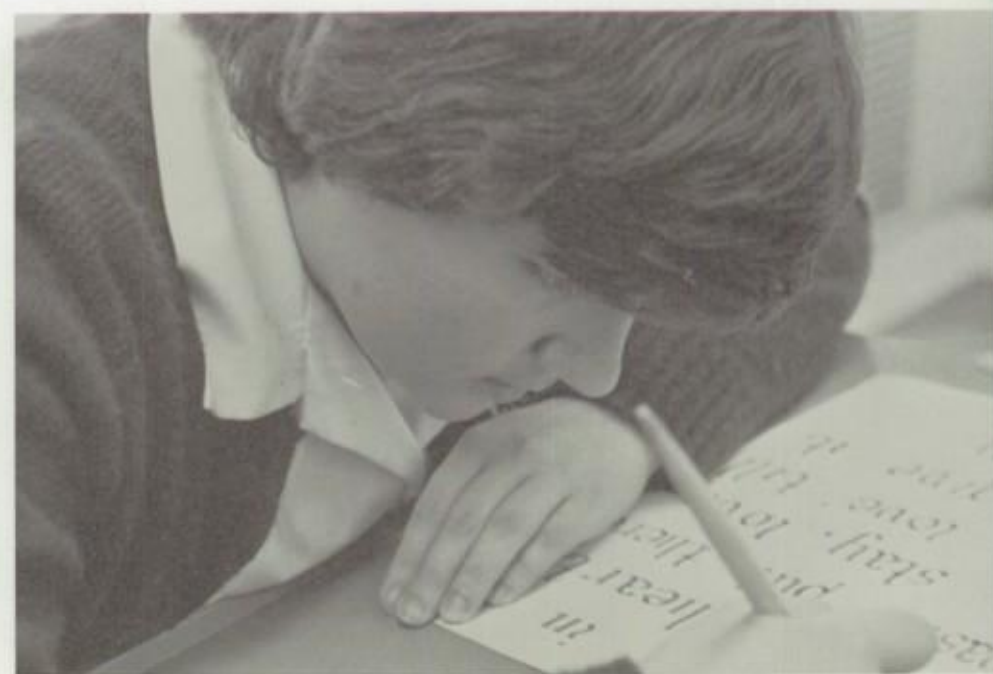

Didn't anyone hear the fire alarm?

"Why can't I remember that word?", mumbles Jeff Coldren as he labors over one of Sister Catherine Labourne's major tests.

Rhythm is the key to Susan Thomas's ability to produce melodious sounds on her French horn.

Deep concentration and a steady hand assure Sharon Stankiewicz of an attractive poster.

Lolling about on the music room steps, these sluggish fellows exchange amusing stories.

Don't look now, but we're all in trouble.

"There's a pattern to this puzzle," ponders Jim Deisher portraying the ingenious Sherlock Holmes.

When focusing on printing, Miss Zeigenfuse's art students greatly appreciate a full ink well.

MAN-N-THINGS

The English Department provided ways to improve each student's mode of self expression through a continuing investigation of our native language. Students absorb increasing amounts of grammar rules and vocabulary across four years.

Literature units drew selections from a wide range of themes, approaches and time periods. Freshmen could choose Shakespeare, Homer's Odyssey or relax with a selection of Sherlock Holmes mysteries. With such a selection for freshmen, can you imagine what was available to seniors! A great variety is the Key.

From the tones of nature to the sounds of today, Mr. Arnold deepened the musical knowledge of the freshmen. Fine Arts developed an appreciation of musical compositions from all epochs, while orchestra class tuned up for field shows, musicales and plays.

Miss Zeigenfuse sparked a creative light in Room 23 this year. This former graduate of CCHS aspires to provide her students with a variety of projects such as macrame plant hangings and silk-screen calendars.

PARLEZ, SPRICH, HABLA

Although some students may have enough trouble perfecting the English language, there are others who have a taste for a different culture. For these scholars, a language class provides the necessary stimulus.

Adjusting to a new teacher is not always an easy task, but Miss Roncoroni lightened the burden with her enthusiasm. It is said that pronunciation was highly stressed in Room 303 this year. In addition, students shared some of Miss Roncoroni's European experiences and continued to watch the papers for international news.

Excess time at the end of Sister Reginata's German classes provided an opportunity to perfect the German Polka. The Eve of Lent furnished the atmosphere for faschingsfest, including all that is commonly associated with German merry-making. In Room 21, there was never a dull moment.

For students who began Spanish this year, Miss Pelligrini was waiting with an inspirational style. Even grammar came alive in her classroom. Aided by Sister Margaret Mary, Language Department Head, upperclassmen applied their grammar and vocabulary backgrounds to facilitate verbal interactions of all sorts. Students of all foreign languages attain a minimum understanding of its structure and its people.

Creating the proper atmosphere for a fiesta, Santo Marabella and Dave Matthews try out a few of the Spanish souvenirs.

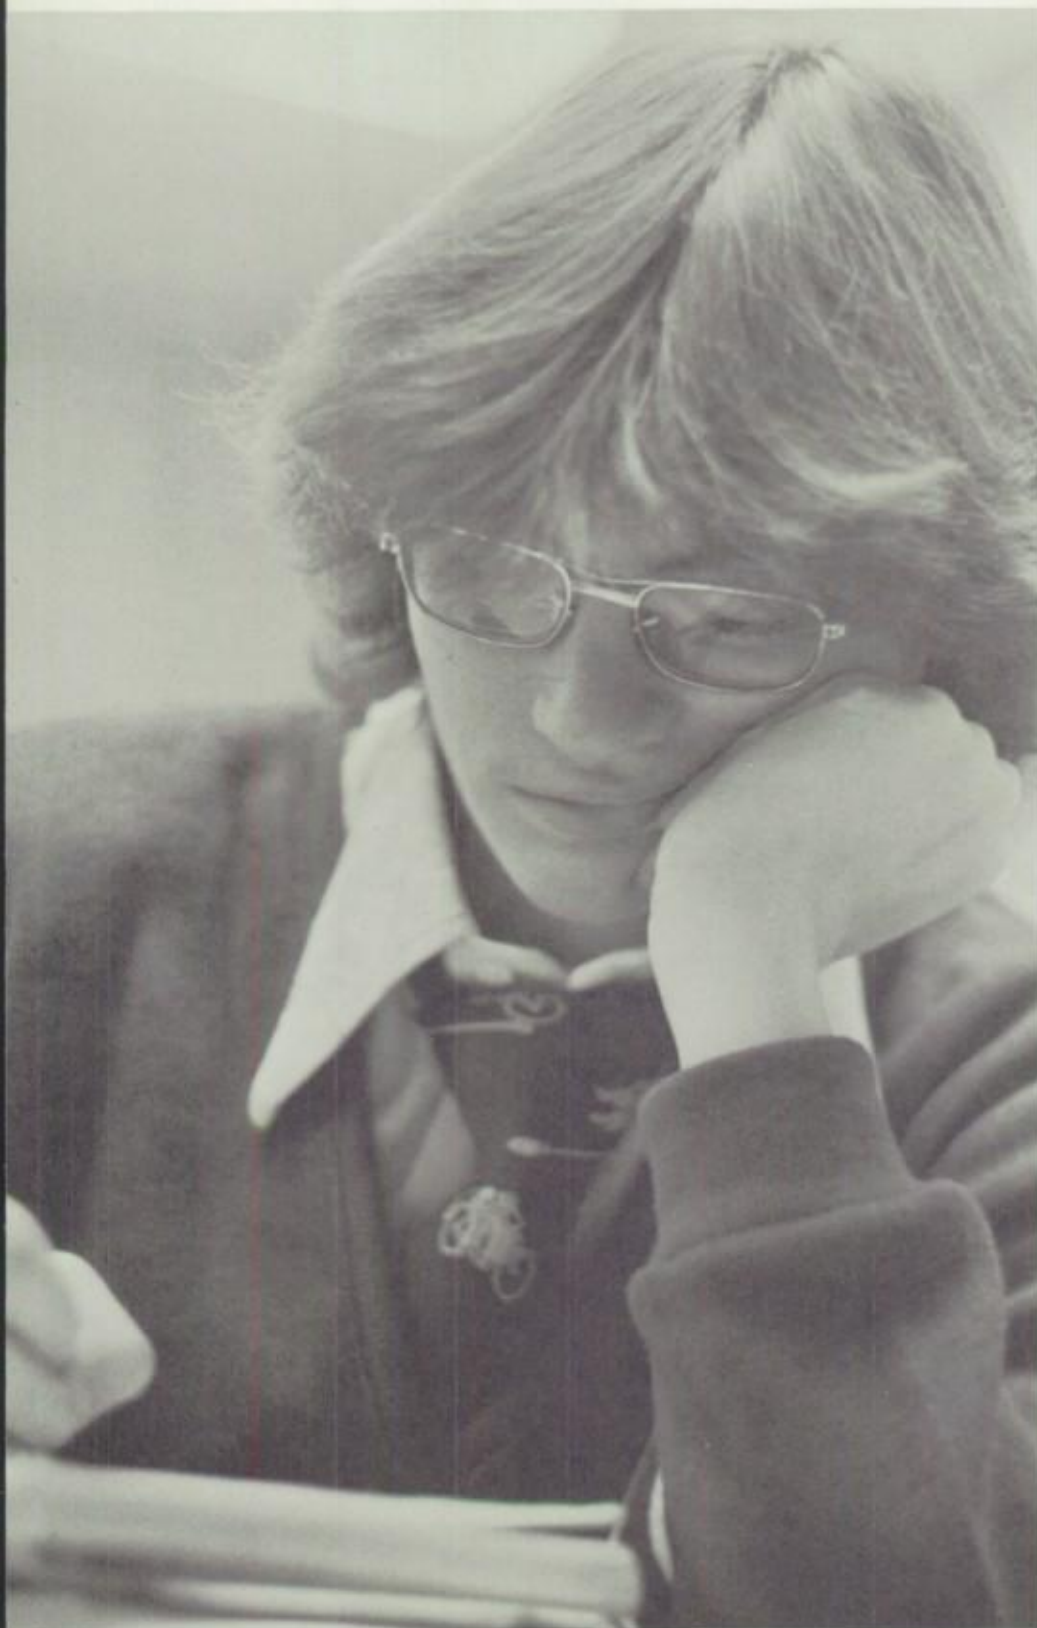

A tablesetting helps French III students, Mary Reedy and Chris Cammarano, learn the names of the culinary utensils.

Even on Valentine's Day some "Spanish lovers" are too silly to be romantic!

Hoping to catch any possible grammar errors, Ray Nice Fager checks and rechecks to be assured of 100% on this German exam.

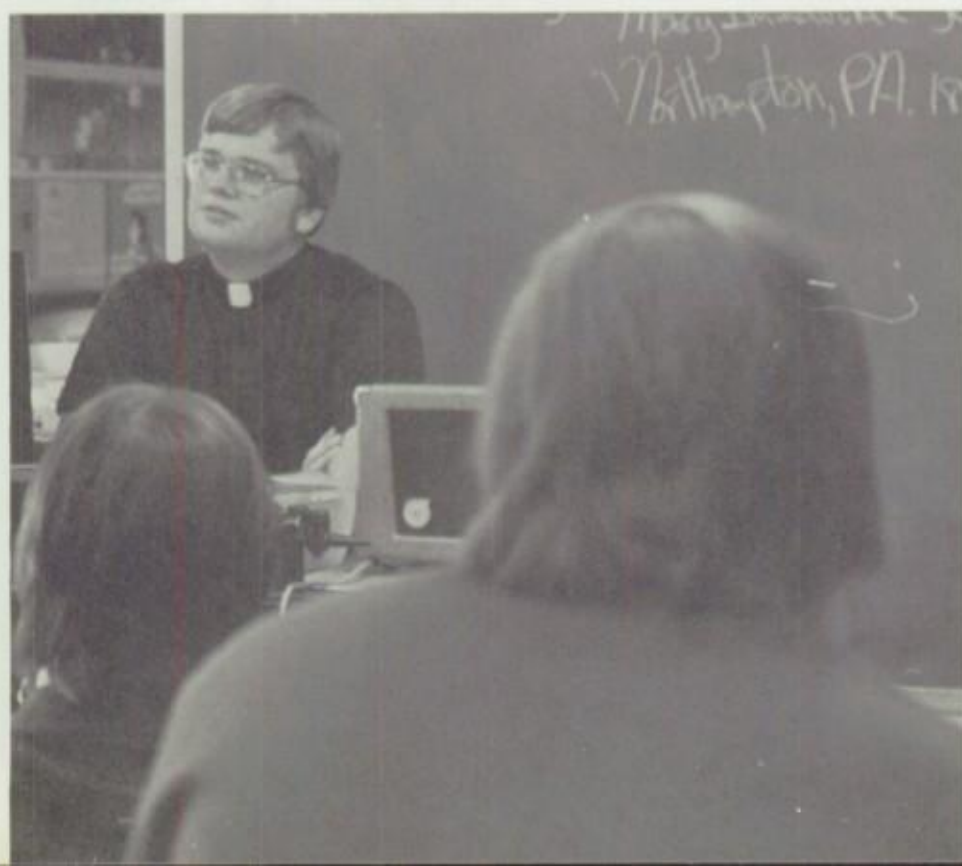

Exerting his last ounce of energy, Jim Kowalczyk concentrates on making sense out of Fr. Mraz's theological explanations.

Pondering the words of Fr. Grundowski, these juniors seriously begin examining their own lives.

A search for understanding and happiness form one of the major objectives of Sr. Casimir's freshman religion classes.

REALLY RELATING

Comprised of a superior teaching staff, the Religion Department utilized every available source of inspiration. This year's major issues surfaced in a Pro-life rally at Penn Square, where the Central representation impressed many onlookers. In-class interpretation of Scripture, panel discussions on current issues, investigations of other established religious beliefs, even an inspection of some transitory religious practices highlighted the four-year span.

Central has maintained its level of excellence in the learning process of maturing as Christians. We are proud of the strength of our Religion Department. It is part of what makes us different.

MATHEMATICAL MADNESS

The mathematics program is a progressive one. This year, freshman attention was turned toward basic algebraic principles. They labored over factoring polynomials and solving equations. Concentrating on proofs and theorems in sophomore geometry, Sister Jean Anthony and Sister Chris challenged their students with similar triangles and Pythagorean theorems.

Juniors integrated their previous background in the Algebra II and Trigonometry courses. Both classes dealt with advanced algebra logarithms, and graphing. The Algebra II and Trigonometry class extended its offerings into the fundamentals of Trigonometry, treating figures in a different light.

The pinnacle of the math curriculum came in senior year. Topics included polynomial functions, Trigonometric applications, and conic sections. Elementary Math Analysis and Math Analysis went beyond most high school math courses and included an introduction to calculus.

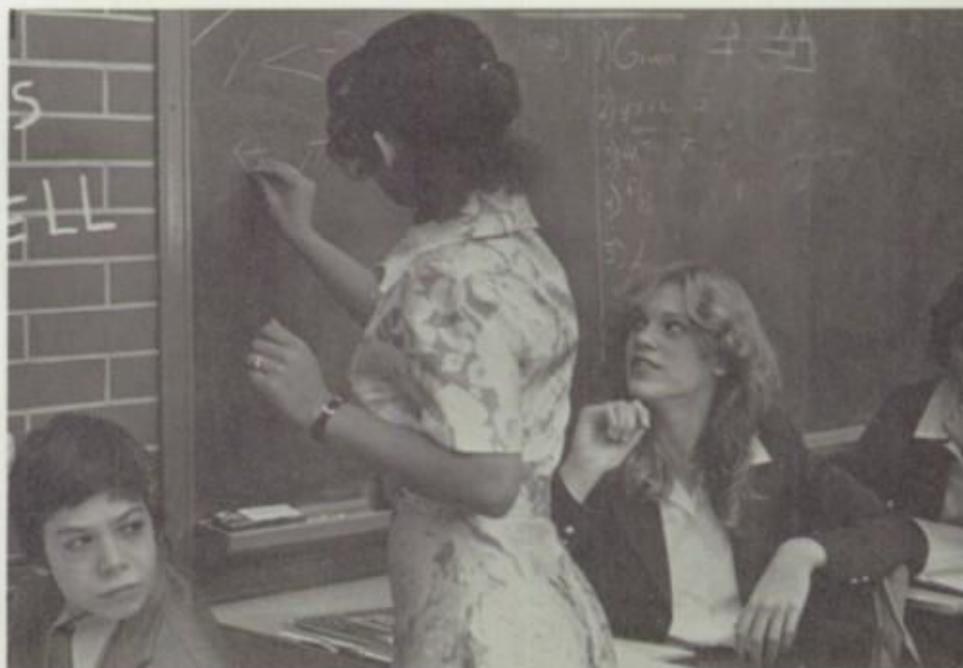

Attempting to achieve maximum practicality, Central also offered Consumer Mathematics, which stressed the basics of the economy. Writing checks and determining profits constituted a fraction of the syllabus stressed for our future patrons of industry.

"Was it something I said?" asks Maria Echeverry.

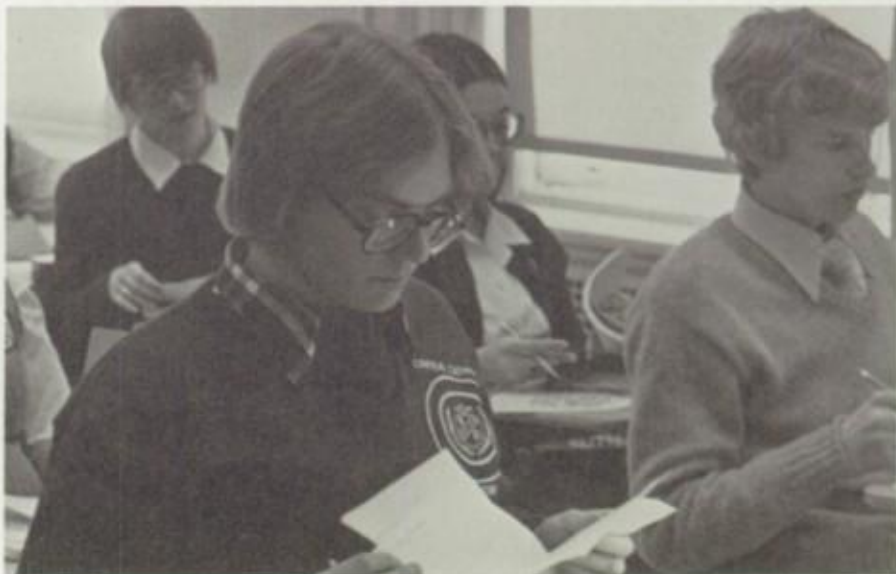

Cindy Gehringer, Mary Ann Fura and Dan McDevitt are ready for THIS test.

Geometric proofs distract Mercy Armstrong from solving her algebra.

Before the start of Elementary Math Analysis, Gary Schumacher clears his desk in order to become "mathematically orientated."

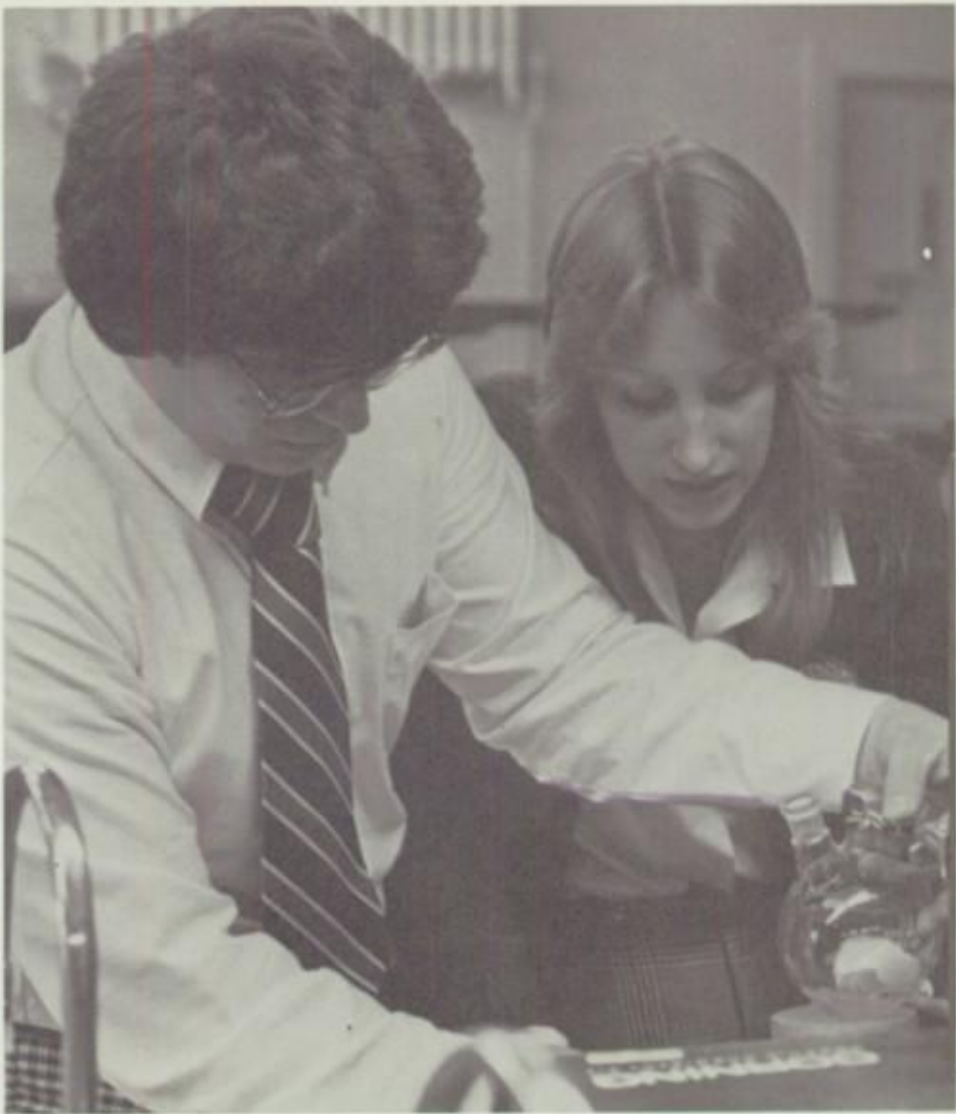

A long chain of enzyme questions keeps these students busy.

For complete and accurate results, Theresa Bohner takes a closer look.

Conscious of good laboratory technique, Matt Cinelli and Rose Bentz set up for the delicate Grignard Reagent.

BALANCES, BEAKERS & BIOLOGY

Crystallization and filtration were all part of the freshmen IPS course. The traditional "sludge" experiment gave students an opportunity to identify unknown substances. A chain of DNA molecules stretched down the first floor corridor so that the biology classes could prove that "life is a never ending process." The students discovered the study of genetics through projects involving cross-breeding and heredity.

In chemistry class, upperclassmen began by struggling to decipher the periodic chart of elements and to understand the mechanics of an atom. Complex chemistry class apparatus filled Room 205 where the Organic Chem students performed numerous labs. Through these extensive exercises, Mr. Sokash prepared his seniors for future college level science courses. Trips to the planetarium and videotapes were only some of the methods used to explain the concepts of motion, light and astronomy in physics class.

The Science Department has done a fine job both in teaching students the basics of modern technology and in preparing those interested for a science related career.

LET'S BE CIVILIZED

U.S. Cultures class provided the perfect initiation for the freshman class. Mr. Murphy and Sr. Joan Marie oriented each rookie toward exploring related questions through research.

In World Cultures, students "travel around the world in 180 days" with Sr. Mary and Mrs. Felix. The two instructors traded places at mid-year so that they could give students the maximum knowledge of their specialties, Western and non-Western cultures, respectively.

"Systematically," Sister Regina Ange develops her juniors' attributes of strong citizenship. She provided many opportunities to check up on current events with a repertoire of magazines and her expertise in the political field.

Seniors investigate the mechanics of society as sociologists see it, by treating the science itself or by speculating solutions to Contemporary American Issues. However, for the more skeptical student, an intern program is offered which provides firsthand experience with the operation of the law.

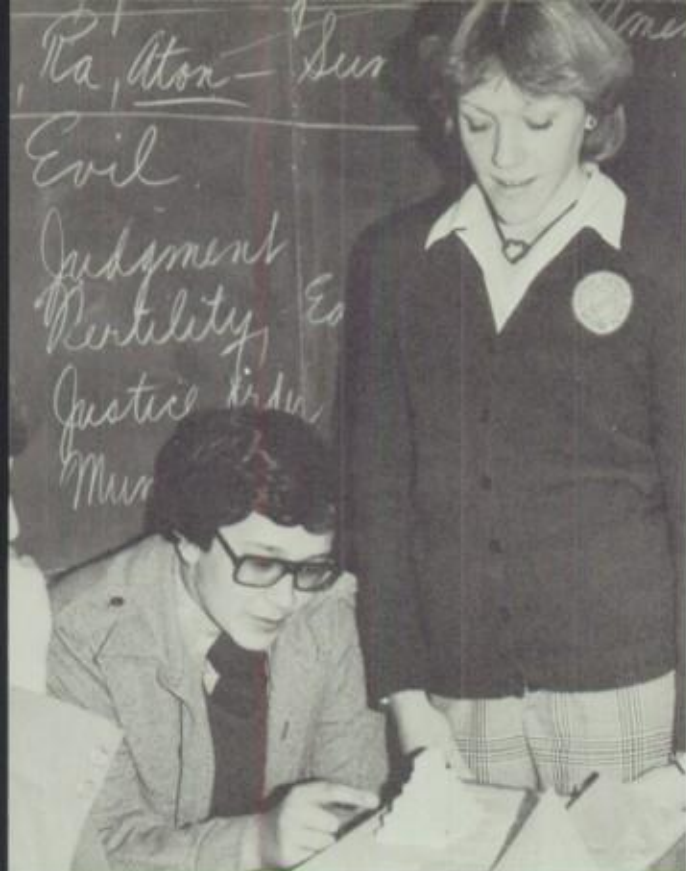

Wit and wisdom are present as "attorney" Joe Ashcroft questions a witness during a mock trial staged by the Contemporary American Issues class.

Ready for some excitement?

OK, pass out the magazines.

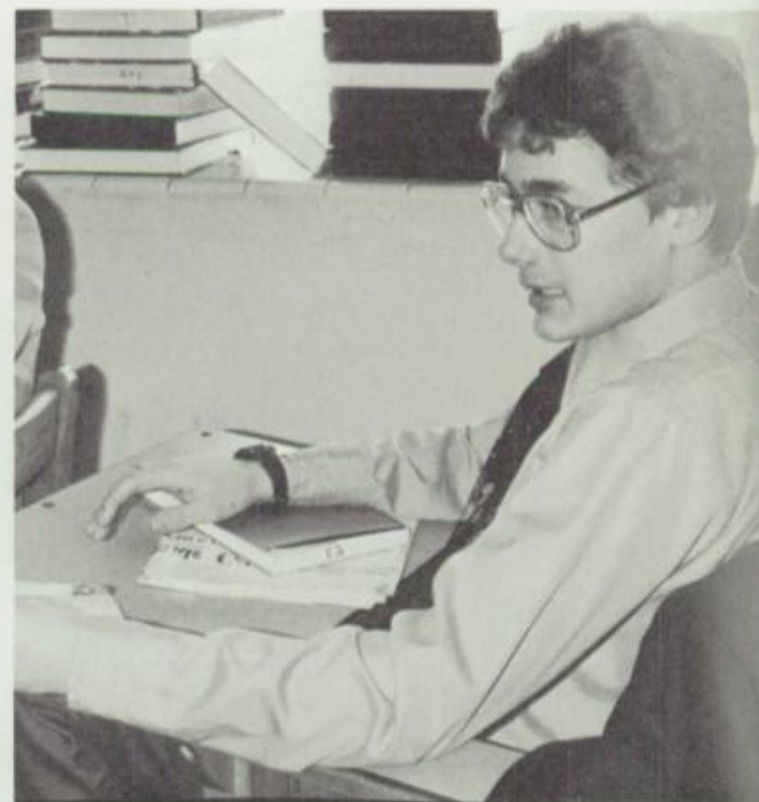

There's an odd one in every crowd.

Hey, who's running this class, Sr. Joan Marie of Pat O'Boyle?

Freshman history bugs pursue a topic in the library stacks.

How exciting can you get?

Mixing ballet with basketball adds grace to the game!

Even his busy schedule can't hinder Father Bechtel's desire to lend a helping hand wherever needed.

Not in here girls!

"Now is as good a time as any," muses Ray Caltigerone.

HEALTHY IN MIND AND BODY

Acquiring a consciousness of body functions in Health was not sufficient to fulfill the goals of our Phys Ed Department. Students were encouraged to apply good health principles in their gym classes. They participated in a variety of activities from basketball to yoga.

Disciplining the body is only one side of developing a well-rounded student. Father Bechtel and Sister Rosanne provided ample occasion for a student to discover his talents, faults, hangups and to discover ways to deal with them. A student is always assured of an open door.

Upon opening the door of a Driver Ed car, juniors found either Mr. Coller, Mr. Haas, or Mr. Roncolato to direct them around the streets of Reading. With patience and concern, these men kept the safety of their drivers foremost in their minds. After all their good, healthy training, we wouldn't want students to drive themselves up a wall!

Is this the result of co-ed gym classes?

"See that boy; that thar is an oil stick."

We just don't feel like arguing today,
Mr. Schaaf.

"Whatever happened to the good old days?" was the question that tortured this year's freshman class. While trying to deal with the transition from their former "senior" status in grade school, they encountered with every passing moment yet another facet of high school life.

However, this year's class seemed to adjust well to their new surroundings. The youngest members of the student body plunged into numerous activities with inexhaustible enthusiasm. They energetically supported homeroom bake sales, magazine and musicale drives, as well as sponsored the annual Junior High Dance.

Initiation Day subjected our rookies to the slapstick humor typical of its theme "That's Entertainment." The frosh were at first resentful, yet happier knowing that they achieved the well-earned title of "Centralites."

Drummer Joe Farrelly seems intrigued by Monica Siegfried's originality.

SOPHOMORES

Although this year is often described as one of "controlled insanity," one bursting with tears and triumphs; its trial-and-error experiences benefitted our sophomores greatly. As they began to accept their academic and social duties, these promising underclassmen realized their need to grow in unity with the rest of Central's population.

Their year was one of involvement. Each one of our sophomores dedicated himself to finding out who he was and what he had to offer himself and the community in which he participated. The students of the Class of 1979 have given Central proficient athletes, talented artists and musicians, potentially adept journalists and profound speakers, all whose work are known and recognized in and out of Central's halls.

These Centralites were active in many projects of various natures. They contributed new ideas to both career and community clubs. Besides sponsoring a successful November Record Hop at school, they showed an understanding of a practicing Christian life by making their class's Christmas mass revolve around the theme "Wise men still seek Him."

Numerous sophs represented Central by their industriousness in part-time work and Berks County projects. By the year's end, the sophomores had taken a more responsible stand in school, home, and community life.

"Upperclassmen" the title associated with the juniors was only one of the highlights of their third year at Central. These future leaders of the student body showed dedication and enthusiasm as they experienced job hunting, driving, and serious college choosing.

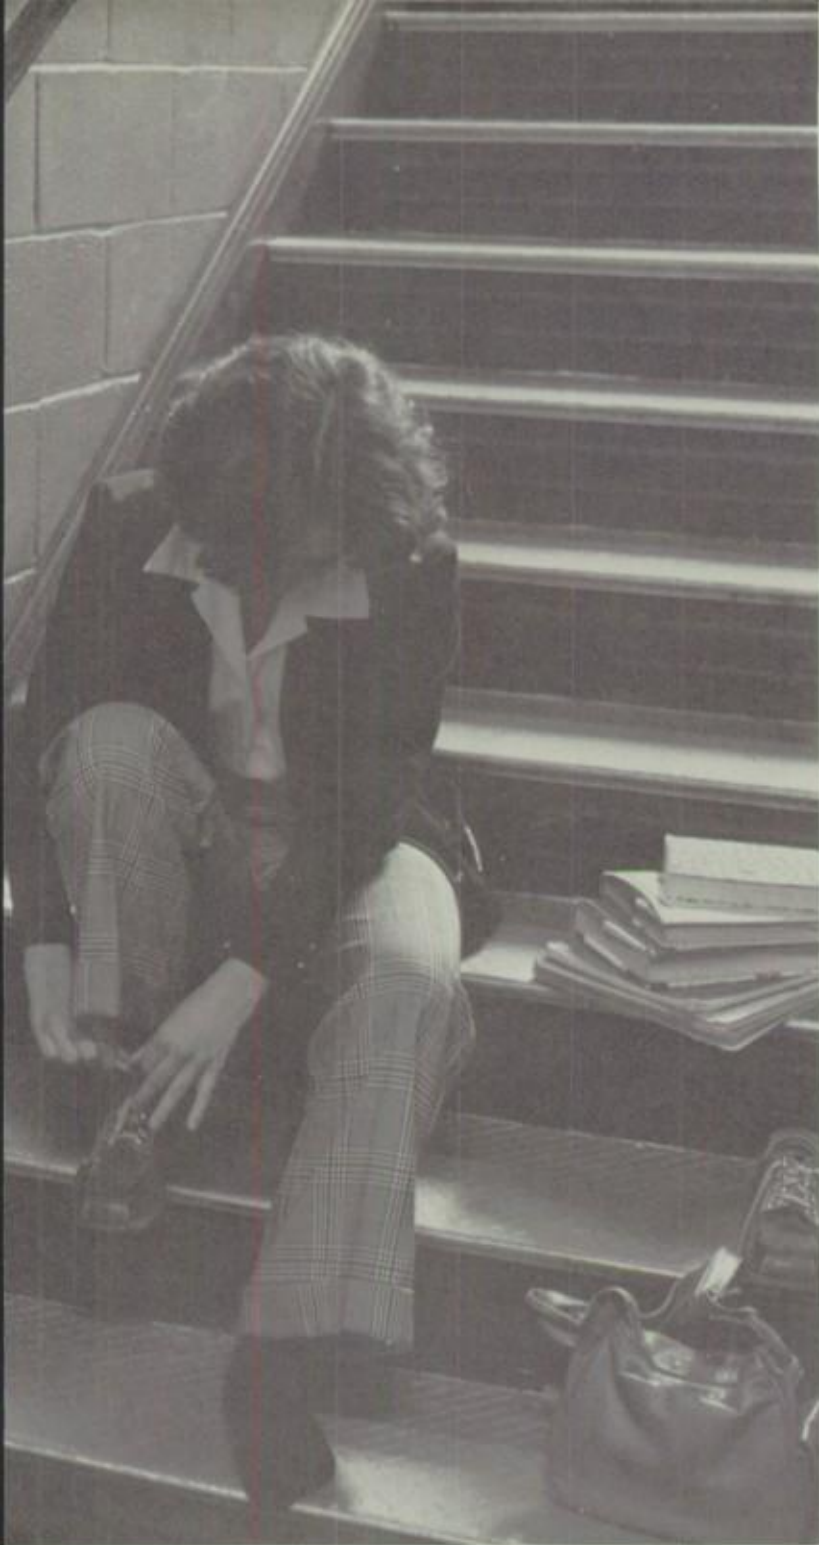

A privilege connected with this particular year was the option of subjects presented to the students. For the first time, they could choose what courses they would take within a college prep or business and secretarial curriculum. In May, a selective group of juniors were inducted into the respected National Honor Society. Teachers helped students in each specialization by either preparing them for College Boards, or setting up a work-study program in the secretarial major.

The lighter side of junior year included such spectacular moments as the arrival of the class rings and the Junior Prom, "This One's For You."

These students met each daily challenge with a characteristic determination and vigor. The Class of 1978 colored their year with a maturing interest in scholarship, athletics, student government, and community affairs.

"I bet you can't guess my congressional district," challenges Pat Cardiff.

"Here is a spot to clear up a few minor details."

Waiting anxiously for his cue, Jack Loeper focuses his eyes fixedly on the director.

At this moment of thought and relaxation, the last thing that Cathee Jo Corbett wants is the sun in her eyes.

FOR

WE'RE PROUD OF OUR GIRLS

Central's potential is often displayed in the talents of its student body. This year, two of our seniors merited distinction for their talents.

From a choice of three nominees, Diane Glowacki was chosen to represent Central in the annual Junior Miss Pageant. To be able to represent the school is indeed an honor, as a chosen committee selected her on the basis of personality, talent, poise and appearance. Diane put these qualities to work as she sang a Spanish version of "Feelings" while accompanying herself on the guitar. She was a fine representative of the global vision nurtured at Central

The Homecoming game is THE game as far as Central's students are concerned. This year is no exception.

Beth Capozello and Robert Klutz were chosen by the student body to hold the coveted positions of Queen and King.

A car caravan, decorated in Central's Red & White, left the school headed by a police escort. It was a joyous event in every way as the team roared on to victory. The focal point of the ceremonies took place at halftime when Donna Dailey crowned Beth Capozello, amid the cheering throngs of Cardinals.

As I look back on my life, one of the most constant and powerful things I have experienced within myself is the desire to be more than I am at the moment- an unwillingness to let myself remain where I am- a desire to increase the boundaries of myself- a desire to do more, learn more, express more- a desire to grow, improve, accomplish, expand. I used to interpret the inner path as meaning that there was some new thing out there I wanted to do or be or have. And I spent too much of my life trying to find it. But now I know that this energy within me is seeking more than the mate or the profession or the religion, more even than pleasure or power or meaning. It is, seeking out more of me.

ROOKIES RUN RAGGED

"Freshman Day," the long-awaited day for seniors and the most-feared day by freshmen, centered itself around a theme entitled, "That's Entertainment." Seniors re-created past and present stars of the stage and screen. Sonny & Cher could be seen walking down the marble stairs, while Tatum O'Neill, Baretta, and other celebrities spent their time in the cafeteria. The whole school seemed to take on the aura of a Hollywood of bygone days. Even Gromen's Chinese Restaurant was represented on the first floor corridor. Antics of the day included an ugly contest, dances, races, and the usual embarrassing stunts associated with this auspicious occasion. When the assembly ended, the goal of the whole affair had been accomplished—the welcoming and official acceptance of the freshmen to our school. The day was over for the so-called "little ones" of the school. But four years is not too long to wait for them to get their revenge on the incoming freshmen of 1979.

ATHLETICS

DISAPPOINTED, NOT DISCOURAGED

The 1976 track team set out, determined to better their record from previous years. Under the direction of Coach Bill Haas, the squad gained impressive victories early in the season. During the first two meets, Twin Valley/N.C.C.V.T.'s and Brandywine's track teams fell victim to the swift excellence of Haas' crew. However, their rage of glory was shortlived, due to many injuries contracted by team members throughout the season.

Handicapped against top competition, the Card's strength began to wane. Stars such as Joe Kaleda and Chris Lis, who participated principally in field events, lost many points unnecessarily because of burdensome physical impairments. The same was true for leading runners, Bill Kolson and Rick Baer.

What started out to be a year of well-deserved enthusiasm, unfortunately finished as a disappointing two and five season. Mr. Haas and his members aspire to perform with lasting, controlled skill in 1977.

Under the extreme pressure of the relay race, Tim Billings and Ted Rollins strain every muscle to complete the baton pass.

Deep concentration, the correct leg lift and body thrust blend together for Gerry Russo, enabling him to launch the shot put for a record distance.

MURPHY MAKES PROGRESS WITH VETERAN TEAM!

Experience, the determining factor of the 1976 baseball season, was present among this year's twenty-member team. With only two members of the previous year's team graduated, Coach Murphy succeeded in forming a cooperative and improved group of ball players.

The Card's record (6 wins - 9 losses) merited a third place finish in the Berks County League. This record, although less than our coach's goal, contains one praiseworthy note—five of the defeats were within two runs.

One example of the team's tenacious desire to attain success, was their victory over first place finisher, Twin Valley (3-1), toward the end of the season. Though they may not have closed the season with a winning record, this closely-knit, solid squad kept alive a winning spirit.

The Cy Young Award, a pitcher's acclaimed glory, may be a dream; but a Central victory is Bill Mason's present goal.

While eyeing Twin Valley's defensive strategies, Coach Murphy gives encouragement to his own players.

"Mike Schmidt, eat your heart out," says third baseman Craig Szablowski, as he robs another batter of a base hit.

NOTHING LESS THAN CHAMPS

A successful 1976 football season resulted from new innovations in offensive as well as defensive strategies. A new varsity coach added spice to a strong background of "Shemanski Philosophy", while new players gave depth to a squad of well-trained veterans.

Coach Dave Piscitelli's initial year was an unforgettable one. His many memories include: the victory over Reading High in the season's opener, a 41-8 romp over Schuylkill Valley at Homecoming, and the "Big Game" - the 24-6 massacre of arch-rival Holy Name. This victory gave Central a share of the Inter-County League Championship.

BABY CARDS BASH OPPOSITION

The 1976 Junior Varsity and Freshman football teams finished with winning records. Coach Bill Haas' jayvees, the varsity stars of tomorrow, posted a three win-two loss record. Sophomore Chuck Herman and Junior Barry Braun led the team to outstanding victories over Lansdale, Schuylkill Valley and Kutztown.

Under the direction of Coach Joe Murphy, the freshman squad put together an excellent 5-1 record. Their victory over Holy Name sparked this rookie powerhouse to additional wins in their next three encounters. With only minutes left to play in their last game, Hamburg nipped the little Cards blemishing a perfect record, but not stealing their Inter-County League Title.

Though he may not compare in size and weight to his Hamburg opponent, J.V. Brian Didyoung matches his strength, to clear way for teammate Barry Braun.

PRE-SEASON PREPARATION PAYS OFF

The 1976 Girls' Field Hockey team made great gains this season. The team turned in a record of 4-7-1, which is the best tally ever at Central. Three of the four wins were shutouts, while the fourth was a 2-1 victory. The solo tie was a scoreless one.

This vast improvement may be attributed to better pre-season preparation. The team raised enough money to send fifteen girls to a week-long hockey camp, while the remaining players attended a day camp.

The five seniors on this year's team can take pride in knowing that they shattered school hockey records for a single season. Returning next year are twelve players who earned letters, plus a group of talented jayvees. The young Cards posted a 4-4-4 record, under the direction of Sister Chris.

Obviously delighted with her position as goalie, Becky Schuhwerk straps on knee pads as she prepares to help her team to victory.

DEBIEC DEALS OUT RESPECTABLE CARDS

Following the glories of a championship football season, Cardinal fans had high hopes for an exciting basketball season. This year's basketball team can be described as a championship team without a championship. Quickly establishing a winning mark in the first five games, Central found themselves four and one. Their desire and determination to win was exemplified by wins like that at Exeter (69-39), and the Hamburg barnburner (93-56). The biggest win of the season came near its beginning when the Cards downed Archbishop Ryan (73-65). Even in their defeats the Cards were always in contention; but the close wins seemed to be out of reach. Games were close all year; seven were lost by four points or less.

Respectability was returned to Central's basketball program under Coach Michael Debiec as the team entered the P.I.A.A. playoffs for the first time in two years. Topped by seniors Tom Boczar and Bob Klutz and by juniors Mark Kapka and Dave Waldman, our mighty team became a tenacious competitor, a formidable opponent to any of the area ball clubs.

Floating up for a shot, Dave Barr displays his precision and accuracy.

High scorer, Tom Boczar, specializes in easy layups like this.

JOLTIN' JAYVEES, DUNKIN' MUNCHKINS

After surveying the impressive record achieved by the 1977 J.V. Team, one would predict that the future looks bright for Central's Basketball. Posting a 16 win-7 loss record, the J.V.'s were led by such outstanding scorers as Steve Lamp, Mike Schroeder, and Bert Wernicki. Coach John Ammon had considerable talent to work with this year, and he used this asset extensively, in gaining double victories over Holy Name, Muhlenberg and Wilson. With their skills and competitive spirit, the young hoopsters should aid greatly to the success of next year's varsity.

The Freshman team, under the direction of Mr. Richard Debiec, rolled to a noteworthy 8 win-5 loss season. The Baby Cards showed fine form while dominating opposing basketball teams in their winning efforts. They often experienced the piercing pangs of defeat by a few points in the dwindling seconds of their losing games.

"All for one and one for all," seems to be the general reason for the Card-dominated meeting.

Groping for the rebound, Cindy Morawczynski and her Mifflin opponent battle for position.

EXCELLENCE IS BENEATH THE SURFACE

The varsity basketball team was marked by change this year. Coach Trout added a new style offense and an aggressive defense to their repertoire. Unfortunately, this was not enough to entitle the experienced team to a winning record.

The Cards' season (4 wins - 18 losses) included unfortunate losses, such as an overtime defeat by Conrad Weiser. The Cards also came within one point of upending Holy Name in the final seconds of their last encounter. Despite the statistical record, our varsity displayed a winning potential as they trounced Hamburg twice: 50-26 and 56-25.

Their jayvee counterparts had met with even more success. Sr. Chris' Baby Cards compiled an awesome 21 win-1 loss record, in which their only defeat was to Reading High: 40-22.

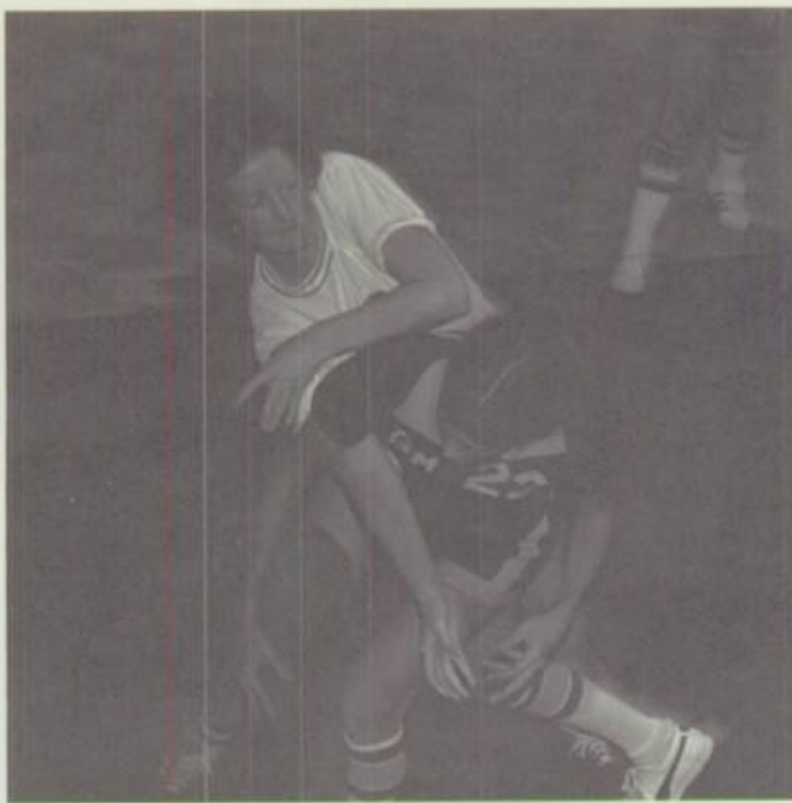

Having experience as a result of CYO basketball, and good conditioning, the players conquered most of their opponents. It looks as if these girls will be an asset to next year's varsity team.

Lining up her shot, highscorer, Tess Tulley prepares to sink another one.

Reversal points are incentive for Ed Krufka as he makes his next move.

Painful? Possibly. But an excellent attempt by Brian Didyoung to decision his opponent.

A right move and a smile assure Terry Folk of a match decision.

"You're pulling my leg!" murmurs George Terefenko's opponent.

ROCKING AND ROLLING AROUND THE MAT

Individual effort was present throughout this year's wrestling team. Under the expert direction of Coach Doug Roncolato, the 1977 varsity grapplers gave it their all in practice and matches. Unfortunately, so did their opponents, as the varsity Cards were only able to compile a 3 win-8 loss record.

Illustrations of this individual excellence were presented by senior Chris Kane and junior Steve Young. Chris set a new school record, in the 112 pound weight class, with a 43 second pin. Steve received honorable mention, from league coaches, for his hardfought 5-1 record.

Effort, however, paid off more for the jayvees as they posted an impressive record of ten wins and one loss. The ever-strong Hamburg Hawks dealt the young Cards their sole defeat: a 37-9 decision.

Coach Roncolato, pleased with his jayvees, has considerable hope for a team with strong contention in the Berks league next year.

IT'S RIGHT UP OUR ALLEY

The boys' bowling teams of 1977, under the direction of Mr. John Sokash, were two teams who used experience to the fullest. The varsity, who compiled an 18-30 record, consisted entirely of the previous year's team. The jayvees, who proved to be strong, hopeful contenders, put together a 14-34 record. The girl's team, under rookie coach, Miss Jean DeFazio, posted respectable records: 12-36 by varsity and 6-39 by jayvee.

Joe Butzer, an ambidextrous bowler, recorded high triple (597) and Bob Schaefer took high single honors (238). For the girls, Michele Jozwiak had high triple (489), while high single (197) was attained by Martha Hunter.

Close match losses, within twenty pins, plagued our teams throughout the season. But this did not dampen the spirit as there was always an unusually relaxed atmosphere during a match. Losing twelve bowlers, through graduation, will be felt by both coaches; but the upcoming members proved themselves to be strong replacements.

ADDING A SPECIAL TOUCH

This year has been proclaimed The Year of Reconciliation by our Diocesan leaders. The Mass, symbolizing our redeeming Savior's ultimate reconciliation of God and man, was re-enacted each time that we gathered to celebrate it. The Chapel Aides set the stage for this very important event.

The preparation for these occasions is seldom realized by the members of our community. A volunteer committee from each class chose the prayers and readings, made the banners, and designed the programs for typing.

After this was completed, a group of interested musicians and vocalists practiced adapting the theme to song. Headed by Sr. Joan Baus and directed by Terri Wentzel, the Liturgical Singers enriched our prayers of praise to God.

Liturgical Singers- Kneeling: Ray Bohner, George Sassani, Dave Szablowski, Joe Wengyn, Santo Marabella, Dennis Przydzial, Theresa Auchter. Sitting: Cindy Meiran, Margaret Wentzel, Mary Kriebel, Frances Miller, Christine Devlin, Kathy Loeper, Lori Guthier. Standing: Diane Fick, Patty Miller, Colleen O'Brien, Debi Stanley, Therese Brown, Stefanie Napoletano, Marlene Biros, Mary Abramowicz, Judy Lellig, Lillian Maciejewski, Kathy Rozycki, Theresa Ettaro, Ellen Graupp, Marguerite Dietrich, Denise Devlin, Brian Coles, Lori Matuszak, Alice Moszczynski, Patricia Cleary, Theresa Schwartz, Diane Toontas, Sue Reigle, Jacqueline Trautman, RayNice Fager, Diane Klein, Michelle Napoletano, Sister Joan Baus, Annie Heckman, Teresa Wentzel.

Is it not God who enters also?

"The essential is invisible to the eyes."

Behind the scenes of a school Mass are Chapel Aides Cheryl Werner, Rosemary Bentz, Kathy Grady, Sue Reigle, Sandy Staron, Ann Marie Lubas.

Guitarists Diane Klein, Brian Coles, Diane Fick, Debi Stanley, Nancy McKittrick, Judy Lellig, Theresa Auchter chuckle at one song suggestion.

Thanks to Rose and Kathy, preparation for this Mass reaches its finale.

Christmas finds the student body enlightened.

B SCHEDULE ENTERTAINMENT

This year the selection of B schedule assemblies was improvised with a number of novel activities. In late October, students crowded into the gym for our first political rally. Later, Sister Stanislaus arranged for the official Police Canine Corps to demonstrate their dogs' training procedures. For the first time, academics as well as sports were honored at Central by each having their own special assembly.

Adding tradition to novelty rounded out the yearly schedule of assemblies. Clyde, the magazine salesman, made his annual visit and told his usual jokes.

As with all football pep rallies, our activities were changed to the afternoon on Holy Name Day and Homecoming. Spirited slogans and humorous skits all contributed to our winning spirit.

The 1976 football team and student body alike rousingly applaud Mr. Shemanski's enthusiastic speech at the Homecoming pep rally.

The one and only Clyde Gamber sets the magazine drive in motion.

Sophomores anticipate what will occur at the upcoming pep rally.

You'd think the audience would applaud naturally!

THE NIGHTS WE'LL REMEMBER

Valentine's Day furnished the proper atmosphere for the annual WPA dance. Paper hearts crowded the west wall of the gym, while flickering candlelight glimmered across the tables and the music of Phoebus filled the air.

After hectic weeks of preparation the senior committee felt gratified at the event's tremendous success. Setting up the entertainment and refreshments to make everything "just right" kept all members of the group busy.

Roles were reversed by the girls as they asked their "special man" to the gala affair. Not only was this a lady's choice, but the coeds also picked up the tab and even bought flowers for their dates. All the troubles and frustrations that went into this special occasion paid off when the dancing began and Phoebus set the stage for Cupid's favorite pastime.

BEHIND THEM ALL THE WAY

Getting Cardinal fans psyched up and raising the adrenaline level of our mighty athletes occupied our Varsity, Junior Varsity, Wrestling, and Girls' Basketball cheerleaders. Keeping this in mind as their primary task, these squads animated the Cardinal Spirit with rowdy cheers and flashy mounts.

During football season, Pep Club members painted the halls red and white with catchy posters, balloons, spirit tags, and Cardinal buttons. Their spirit did not end here. Together these enthusiasts kept our school alive with spirit.

MARCHING MEMBERS AND

Adding greatly to the pageantry of our football games last fall was Central's Marching Band. Song selections included "Cabaret," "The Olympic Theme," "If," and "Of Thee I Sing." As a result of their outstanding performances, they were awarded the First Place Trophy in the Annual Firemen's Parade.

Mr. Arnold, by his devotion to the Band, deserves the recognition of our school community. Our Band is also to be congratulated for a job well done.

A.V. DEPT. TAPS TV TALENTS

Whether they're at Central's own studio, down at Berks-Cable, or on some remote location, members of the A.V. department have hosted, produced, and organized many interesting television shows throughout the year. Through the devotion of all its members and the help of Sr. Dolores, the activities of the department have been expanding. They now include a monthly show, broadcasting live from Central, which contains informative interviews and talented entertainment, covering a variety of topics.

Many social studies classes have included discussions with government officials and senior citizens through a two-way television hookup in various locations in Reading. Students may recall the shocking experience of seeing themselves on T.V. for the first time.

WE'RE RIGHT ON KEY

Highlighting the fall's activities, the musicale brought delight to students and parents alike. The show featured the Stage Band, Girls' Choruses, a German Band, in costume, talented soloists, and the well known Bel-Aires.

Melodies such as "The Sound of Music," "As Time Goes By," and "MacArthur's Park," filled the auditorium as the hushed spectators sat back and listened attentively. Costumed folk singers and dancers displayed faith and talent in their performance of Godspell's "Day by Day"

Mr. Arnold's extensive knowledge of all sorts of music included a variety of numbers to please everyone's tastes. He and his cast are to be commended for their demonstration of talent and music appreciation. Lawrence Welk, eat your heart out.

FAMILIAR FACES IN ANATEVKA

Central Catholic presented the very well known and inspiring musical "Fiddler On The Roof." It is set in the village of Anatevka in Russia. The majority of the people are poor, hard working, Jewish peasants whose lives are centered around their families, traditions and their religion.

Under the direction of Mr. Arnold, Mrs. Felix, and Sister Mary and Miss Zeigenfuse the cast performed their rolls like professionals. The production received favorable reviews by all who saw it.

The Tailor Motel (David Waldman) demonstrates his new sewing machine for Yente (Kathy Griffith), daughters (Helen Iwanowski, Beth Dombrowski, Ann Marie Lubas), Lazar Wolf (Michael Waldman) and Perchik (Jim Sullivan).

Tevye (Joe Ashcroft), the Rabbi (Joe Wengyn) and Mendel (Dave Szablowski) ponder traditions as the Fiddler (Dave Chelius) scratches out a pleasant tune.

Bottle Dancers (Duane Soja, Tom Trainer, Jeff Coldren, Tony Fernandez) are cheered on by townspeople (Santo Marabella, Mike Machuzick, Nancy Russo, Maria Lis).

HELP ME WAND-A!

Drawing from many sources of entertainment, the faculty of Central Catholic put on a one-of-a-kind variety show. The 1977 edition of the Faculty Revue combined the old and the new.

Among the old favorites to return were the Rock Band and the Little People. The addition of female faculty members to the rock group added spice to their renditions of "Help Me Rhonda" and "Be True to Your School." The Little People, more numerous than last year, danced to the tune of "Baby Face," much to the delight of the student-dominated audience.

Unique features included "The Gong Show" and Cinderella. These skits involved such personalities as Edith Bunker, (Mrs. Felix), and a debutant, the Kenhorst Kid, (Mr. Murphy). Out of these two Gong Show finalists, Kenhorst emerged the winner by popular demand. Mr. Schaaf's amazing stage talent allowed him to "slip" into his role as Cinderella. Prince Charming, (Mr. Shemanski), had to practice a little harder in order to cast loving glances at his disguised colleague. Several solo acts, a song trio, black light routines, and the chorus finale along with these hilarious performances made the revue a smash hit.

It takes a lot of time and hard work to perfect the sound of Linda Ronstadt as well as Miss Roncoroni, Mr. Sokash and Fr. Lenick did.

"Let's put a little light on the subject," suggests Fr. Masiar to Jack Moyer and Mr. Sokash.

Little People, Fr. Mraz and Sr. Joan Baus, resort to their second childhood as they sing "Baby Face."

The "Kenhorst Kid" (Mr. Murphy) belted out a tune which made him the humble winner of the Gong Show.

Prince Charming (Mr. Shemanski) is elated to find his Princess; Cinderella (Mr. Schaaf) won't ever have cold feet again!

"In a jiffy you'll look spiffy!" promises the Fairy Godmother (Mr. Cammarano) to the entranced Cinderella (Mr. Murphy).

Mr. Collier proves he is as talented on the organ as he is behind the wheel.

KEEPING STUDENTS AWARE

Hillside Echoes, published bi-monthly for a total of six issues, provided its readers with information of upcoming events, movies and book revues, as well as rock trivia and sport updates.

The staff, composed of Kathy Fitzpatrick, Editor-in-Chief; and page editors: Dennis Przydzial, Becky Schuhwerk, Nancy McKittrick and sports editor, Bill Kolson; was under the direction of moderator, Sister Mary Elizabeth. Business manager was Jack Gaffney who also handled the tempramental camera. Theresa Auchter acted as Art Editor. Many contributors had lent their talents and abilites, thus aiding the editors with the conflict of copy.

In retrospect, the past year can be described in one word, success. The staff was rewarded for its many hours of hard work when the paper received a Columbia Scholastic Press first-place rating. Further gratification was gained when students read the paper before using it as a book cover.

Senior Staff and Advisor, Charles Rieck, Kathy Landis, Cindy Meiran, Miss Roncoroni, Kevin Harter and Beth Capozello . . . all agree that this job does have its brighter moments.

In order to improve this year's style, regular meetings took place between Kevin Harter (Editor-in-chief) and Miss Roncoroni (moderator).

These yearbook staff members find a way to lift up their spirits, not to mention Miss Roncoroni.

CAN WE TOP THAT?

For hours after school, the creative minds of the yeabook staff rewrote and redesigned until their ideas were absolutely perfect. "Practice makes perfect" is the motto of our yeabook moderator Miss Susan Roncoroni. With all the practice we got, everything should turn out as planned.

Deadline time was easily recognizable by the all out action of the yearbook contributors. Everyone was doing double time to reach one of the many very important deadlines. Kathy Landis and George Sassani labored over captioning pictures distinctly. Theresa Ettaro and Cindy Meiran deliberated about the possible ways to improve a copy assignment. Chuck Rieck often contemplated which pictures would best fit his sports layouts. Miss Roncoroni and Kevin Harter worked diligently to fit everything into this year's theme.

Finally, our masterpiece was completed. Loud cheers filled the air when we all realized that we had no more deadlines to meet, no more layouts to design and redesign, and no more copy to proofread and revise. Now, the staff can sit back and relax, - until the book arrives in June.

Attending the annual yearbook convention, Kathy Landis, Chuck Rieck, Steve Milanek and Kevin Harter soak up the October sun.

A bad caption or piece of copy can not slip by our meticulous staff of writers, Theresa Ettaro, Chuck Rieck, George Sassani, and Kathy Landis.

Peg Schwab adds the finishing touch to her "blue print" of this year's cover.

The unexpected Cindy Meiran, business manager, is about to lose an advertising sheet to her co-worker, Kevin Harter.

WHERE MR. MOYER LEAVES OFF . . .

The individual attention given by Jack Moyer to students for academic improvements is continued through the NHS tutoring program. NHS members donated some of their free time to aid in alleviating difficulties with English, math, and foreign languages. Besides tutoring, the club helped to prepare for Parents' Night and to defray the cost of insignia pins for incoming members.

Another group which adds to our tutoring programs makes up the CCD volunteer teachers. These students devote time during the week to plan each Saturday morning lesson. Trying to help the exceptional child understand the principals of faith is no easy task. A lot depends on Christian example. This accounts for the extraordinary devotion and patience of these group members.

CENTRALITES DEMONSTRATE GENUINE CONCERN

Filled with shopping bags of coupons and colored paper, Room 301 was the center of activity for the Ichthus Club. Whether it was making favors for special holidays or preparing skits and songs for a show, the club kept a non-stop schedule all year round.

Elderly shut-ins anxiously awaited the monthly bingo games. They were equally pleased with the amusement and refreshments. Underprivileged children also benefited from toy drives at Christmas, and money-raising coupon drives which sent them to summer camp. Under the direction of Sister Margaret Mary, the Ichthus Club found many outlets for the expression of its theme, service.

"How are we going to carry all this stuff!" ponders Michael McGrath and Mary Ann Kozak as they prepare to distribute goods to needy families.

CENTRAL IN THE "LEMONLITE"

It is no wonder that our school's insignia reads Excelsior. This year has reaped another fine harvest of exceptional student achievements. Central has ranked among the top contenders in all fields.

Our football team brought back the Championship trophy, thanks to the leadership of such award winning seniors as Mike, Nick, and Dave. Jeanne Noskowski represented the driving spirit of our ever improving Girls' Hockey team. Although the Basketball teams brought home no trophies, their cooperative attitude was recognized at the winter sports assembly, as was that of the Wrestling and Bowling teams. Tom Boczar, Tess Tulley, Steve Young, Jim Aulenbach and Patti Burns were particularly honored at this time.

The artistic and creative excellence which dwelt within our student body this year was proven by Karen Hoover's chance to play in the Philadelphia Philharmonic Orchestra, Jo Painter's oratorical talent, and Maureen Nolan's sketching technique which won her a diocesan-wide prize.

Academic recognition comes regularly over the PA system. Let us not forget our five First Place winners in the Junior Academy of Science, or our German and Math test participants who placed in the top percentages.

The other schools, they get in the Limelight. Central is the uncommon, the unlime. We're in the Lemonlight.

Fall Sports Most Valuable Players—Nick Phillips, Mike Stopper, Dave Szablowski (football), and Jeanne Noskoski (hockey).

DEDICATED TO SERVICE

Behind the scenes of the school's operation, many things are overlooked. Students, who dedicate themselves to this work, are important to our livelihood. Each day began with the raising of the flag. The sign out front is changed as often as is necessary to keep the public posted on what is going on at Central. Bulletin boards, creatively decorated by the Activity Aides, drew the students' attention to keep them updated on drives, shows, and assemblies. The Main Office Aides helped everything run smoother on the administrative end.

The Art Club and Science Fair Club contributed their time to developing their individual potentials and to add to the glory of Central and its activities. Members of the Art Club provided props and posters for shows and assemblies. Science enthusiasts encouraged the creative investigation of new topics such as solar energy.

This news must be big if it takes eight hands to do the work.

SHOWING US THE WAY

. . . to world peace, perhaps. One thing that is for certain is that our UN Club did consider all possible solutions. At Albright College, for example, they debated international problems and world affairs in a model UN Council with other schools.

. . . to safety on the road. The major emphasis of the Traffic Safety Club was to teach good driving habits. Among those recommended were seat-belt use, courtesy to the other driver, obeying the speed limit, signalling your intentions, and keeping your auto in good repair. Students were also exposed to useful procedures to follow in case of emergency, such as changing tires and jumping batteries. Mr. Collier made these points extra clear by having them demonstrated by state officers.

. . . to self-expression. No formal Forensic organization materialized for our 1976-77 school year. However, Josephine Painter did not lack the materials nor the courage to enter herself in Diocesan contests and place. Jo won numerous awards on our behalf, and we're very proud of her.

GOING THROUGH CUSTOMS

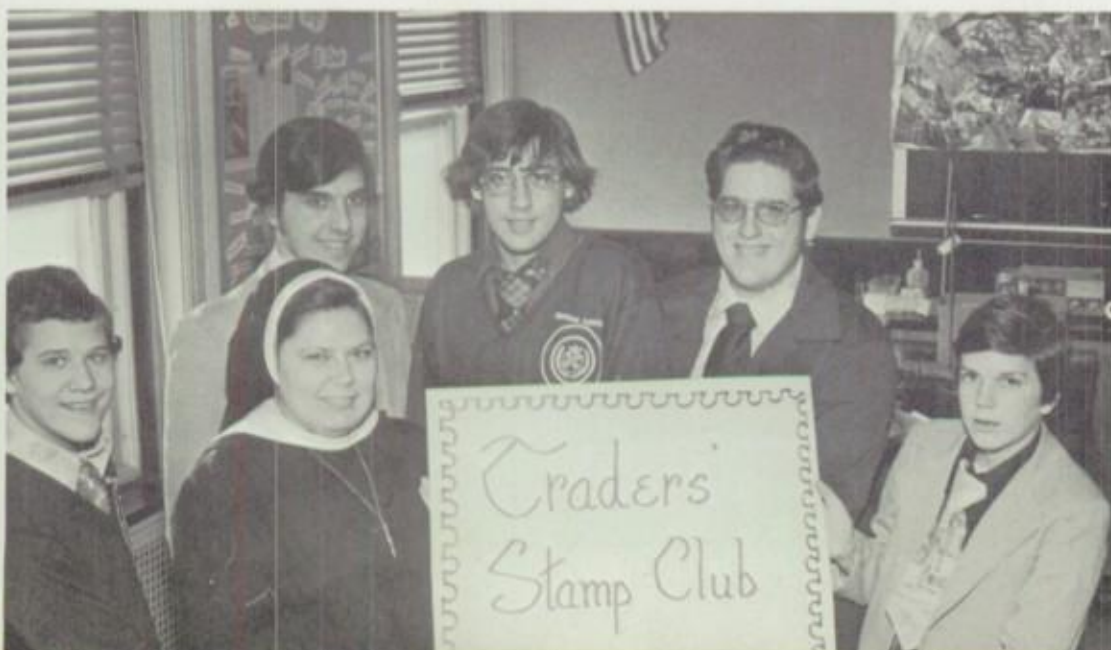

The French Club was reorganized this year by Miss Roncoroni. As an added attraction to the first meeting, Mr. David Smith, a representative of a travel organization, presented a film on foreign travel. Fund raising suggestions from members were the first topics of consideration for the newly elected officers.

Students have spoken about the great culinary delicacies which complement the German Club's celebration of the festivals of Deutschland. Members also spent much time preparing themselves for the National Convention in the spring. Traditionally, these German enthusiasts have come out winners in the national language examination.

At their semi-monthly meetings, the Stamp Club members investigated any newly acquired items for collecting or trading. This year, having gathered a complete set from all fifty states, they set out to acquire more foreign postage. Any foreign stamp was considered a valuable collector's item.

RESPONSE TO LEADERSHIP

At the root of all class functions, the class officers could be found. Planning class activities, by holding meetings and organizing committees to run these events, kept our elected representatives busy throughout the school year.

Most familiar with the school's policies, the seniors were by far the most productive. Homecoming and Freshman Day constituted the fall business, while Prom Committees scampered around to find places and themes best suited to their special year. Among other duties, those heading the junior class organized the traditional Junior Prom, entitled "This One's For You." Sophomores concentrated on building up their treasury by holding dances such as the Sock Hop. Newly initiated freshman officers, elected toward the end of their academic year, concentrated on preparing for their turn to act as sophomore directors.

These leaders helped students join together to enjoy each other's company outside of the classroom and the school caf. We believe that unity is one of our strong points.

Prom Committees- Seated: Patti Burns, Josephine Painter, Diane Toontas. Standing: Mike Waldman, Monica Parenti, Karen Wisniewski.

Freshman Day Committee Chairman- Ed Lendacki, Diane Fick, Sue Reigle, Julie DelCollo.

Homecoming Committee Chairman- Bob Bigos, Julie DelCollo, Bill Bilbow, Bob Schaefer.

The Girls and Their Interests- Traci Schaeffer and Sandra Stubblebine (Textile and Clothing), Mary Caltagirone (Cosmetology), Cindy Blinski and Marie Zeilomski (Computer Programming). Missing: Patty Tezak (Distributive Ed).

Carpenters and Cabinetmakers- Ed Sassor, Dave Buzalewski (Trowel Trades), Stanley Focht. Missing: Joe Matuszak, Dave Suchoza, Ed Gantert, Pete Scibek.

Safely examining the welding ability of his counterpart, Rick Radka patiently waits to see Duane Soja's finished product.

Mechanically Inclined Artists- Mike Kosak (Engineering Design), Richard Eastburn (Electrical Technology), and Charles Murphy (Architectural Drafting).

Feeding the computer food for thought occupies much of these Data Processors' time.

Welders and Mechanics- Rick Radka (Welding), Stanley Zabinski, Rick Zaorski (Auto Trades), and Duane Soja (Welding).

"Is this precise enough?" asks Brian Zebertavage of Dave Yatsko as he sets up the metal lathe.

SHORTCUT TO TRADESMANSHIP

The Vo-Tech Program aids in developing students' talents in the technical fields of today's society. They benefit greatly from this in-shop instruction by learning the mechanics of, as well as the theory behind trades. Classes range from manual to technological fields and include carpentry, machine shop, welding, textiles and clothing, and computer programming.

At the Vocational Technical School, sessions were given in the morning to those students who intend to continue studies after high school. Afternoon classes at Central fulfilled the rest of the mandatory subject requirements. The others, who participated in the work experience program, left Central at noon to go on the job. These young people greatly appreciate the facilities made available to them so that they may experience every facet of their chosen career.

Machine Men- Brian Zebertavage (Machine Shop), Andrew Hartman (Air Conditioning and Sheet Metal), Dave Yatsko (Electrical Maintenance). Missing: Pat Rearden (Small Engine Repair), Bob Kriebel and James Adams (Machine Shop).

Where would Moss Street be without Dan Billings?

Another day, another dollar!

Getting his job done keeps Chuck Rieck on pins and needles.

Helping a lady with her groceries is a difficult but rewarding job for Phil Impink and Sabto Marabello.

MONEY TO BURN

High school years can be strenuous not only on the mind, but also on the pocket; and for many it becomes necessary to find part-time jobs. Football games, basketball games, dances, parties and dates just a few of the expenses that a high school student's allowance may not be able to handle.

Although after school and weekend jobs were more prevalent among the juniors and seniors, ambitious underclassmen also participated in these profitable ventures. Throughout the city, Centralites undertook a wide variety of jobs, ranging from salespersons to security guards. Besides the job experience gained through their work, students found the employment helpful in meeting rising prices as well as increasing the bank book.

Destined to Donny's are Chris and Dee Cammarano.

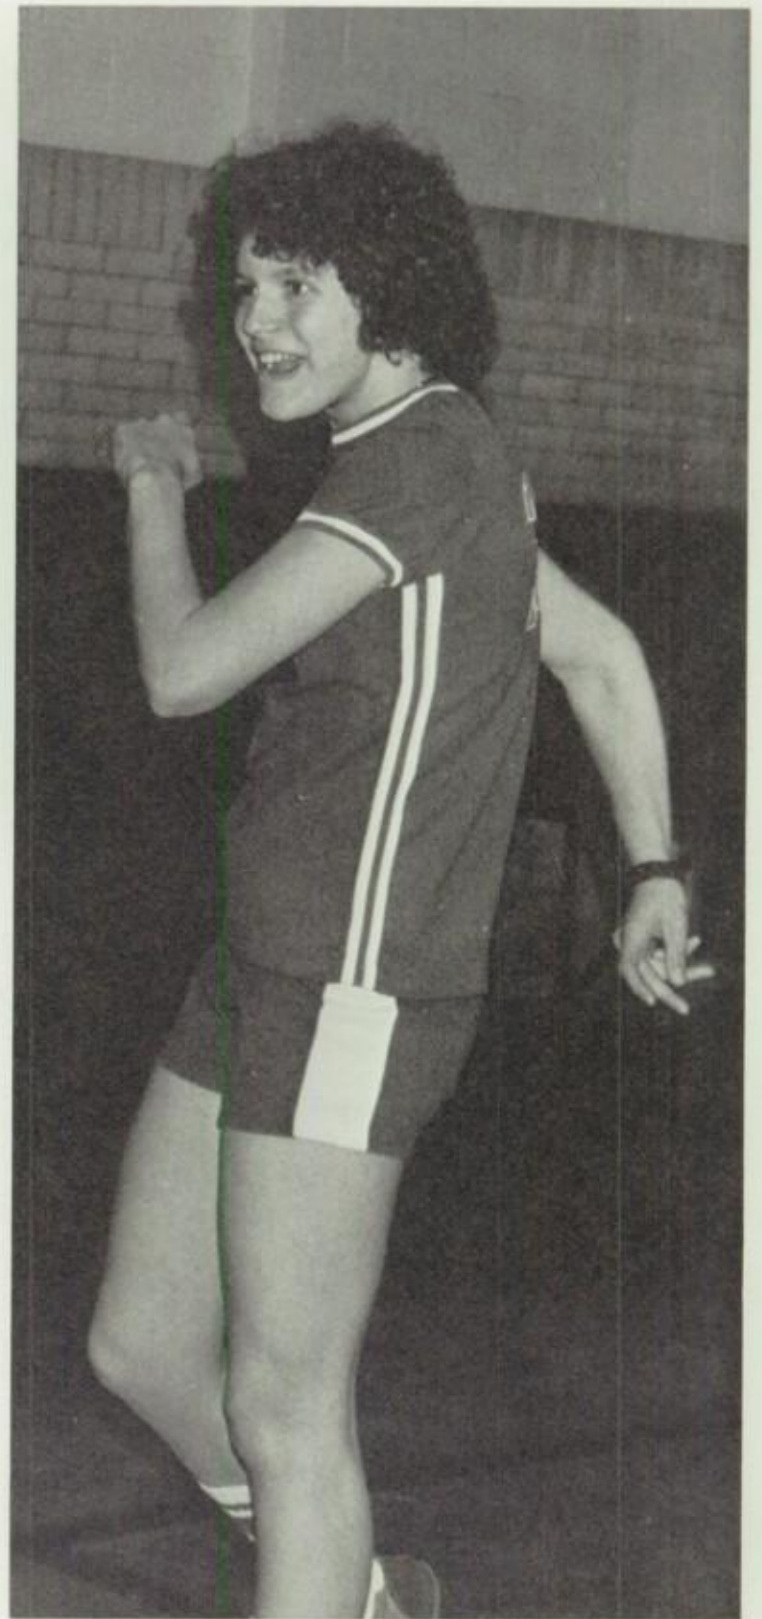

Better get bathroom tissue before the prices go up!

Here Phil returns with a smile, ready to aid another customer.

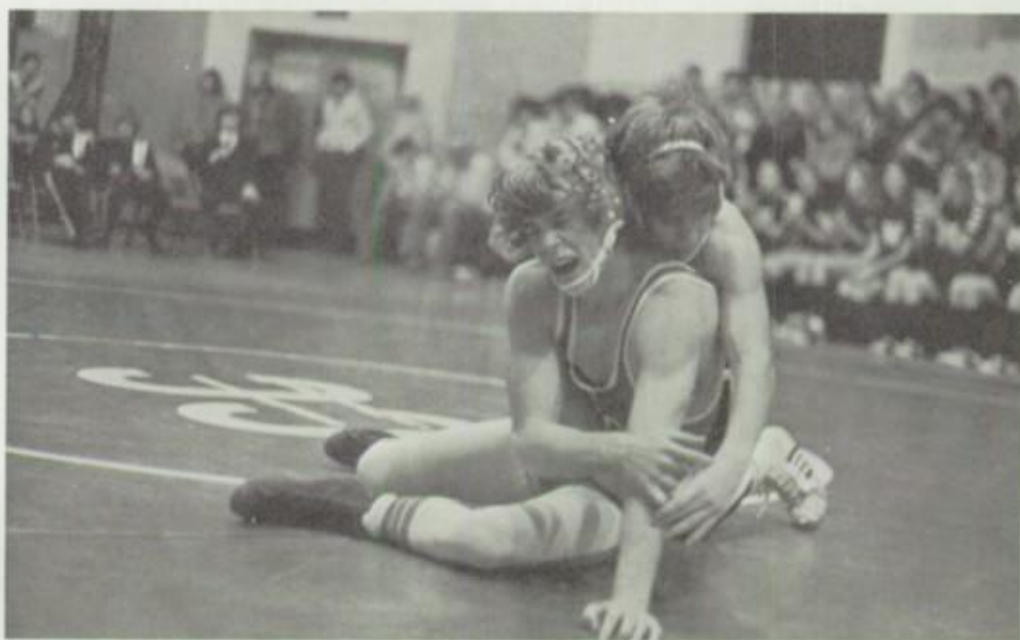

Friendly conversation is part of the job for Theresa Schwartz.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS:

We, the 1977 Centralma staff offer our sincerest thanks to Mr. Vincent Shemanski, principal, Reverend Leo Lenick, Vice-principal, and all the members of the faculty for their encouragement and cooperation. Deserving our utmost gratitude is Mr. Carl Peterson, our representative who spent long evenings in our staff room answering our technical questions and smoothing out the rough spots. We are also grateful to Don Chaffe for his excellent photography and unselfish support. A special thanks is due to Sister Margarita for her genuine effort to lend a helping hand.

Through the many generous contributions of our patrons and friends, this long-awaited publication became a reality. Finally, we would like to thank each other for producing this memorable yearbook.

OUR HAIR DESIGNS ARE UNIQUE, BECAUSE YOU ARE.

Cutting, crimping, curling, waving, relaxing, streaking, marbilizing, enhancing your natural color or dramatically changing it—having your hair cared for in any way is a very personal experience.

You are an individual with your own style of thinking, dressing, living—which shows itself in your total appearance.

Because we recognize this, we design your hair to fit you.

Beginning with a complimentary trichonanalysis of your hair, done scientifically in our salon by our trained analyst, we are able to determine the precise condition of your hair, its needs and strengths.

From there, our specialists in chromatology, cosmetics, permanents, and design can work with you, not on you to create your own individual look.

We're unique because we realize that you are.

Now you don't have to choose between getting a good job and continuing your education.

Over 1000 colleges and the Army have an educational plan called Project Ahead. It's a way to enlist in the Army and start your college education at the same time.

If you qualify under Project Ahead, you choose the participating school you'd like to graduate from before you enlist. Then no matter where you study while in the Army, you'll take courses taught by accredited colleges right on post, with the Army paying up to 75% of the tuition.

If you're interested in starting on your college degree while you're working at a good job, call me.

Call Army SFC Dick Bachtel about Project Ahead.

The American Ways.

We put your money to work where you live...

We're deeply devoted to the economic well-being of the seven counties we serve. We put this principle into practice by investing your money right here in American Bank Country. In fact, two-thirds of our billion-dollar assets are in loans for home building, consumer credit and business expansion all over Southeastern Pennsylvania.

To us, being both good bankers and good neighbors is natural. It's The American Way.

With more than 50 offices throughout American Bank Country, there's sure to be an office near where you live or work. Many offices have special evening and Saturday hours.

Reading, Pa. 19602

Phone: (215) 376-6782/83

It's never too early to start thinking about your future.

What do you want to do? What do you want to be? Would you like to start going places? And doing things?

If you've got questions like these running through your head, you'll find a lot of the right answers in the U.S. Navy.

You'll have a chance to travel. A chance to see something of the world before you settle down.

You'll be able to get your hands on some of the best technical equipment ever made.

And you'll get the kind of training and experience you need to get ahead in life.

So if you want to make something of yourself, if you want to be someone special, get a good start by finishing high school. And then stop in at your local Navy recruiter and find out more about the great future that's waiting for you in the U.S. Navy.

The
 of
